Temps Demands Firmness In Forcing Compliance

SUBMITS METHOD

Would Seize Customs Revenues In Rhine Zones

TARIFF PROPOSED

Reichstag Debate Continues With Unceasing Bitterness

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, February 2.—The Temps declares that the Allies must adopt firm measures in connection with Germany's refusal to comply with the decisions of the Allied Conference. It suggests that the Allies should immediately take possession of the German customs in their respective zones on the left bank of the Rhine; secondly, that they should immediately establish customs cordons separating the occupied from the unoccupied territories; thirdly, that they should immediately come to an arrangement for the purpose of establishing a customs regime, including a tariff, in the occupied territories.

The Temps concludes: "Germany proposes to talk; we propose to act."

Berlin, Feb. 2.—The debate in the Reichstag on Dr. von Simons' statement was continued today. Herr Eugen Schiffer, ex-Minister of Justice, on behalf of the Coalition parties, approved the Government's declaration as regards disarmament and reparations, and undertook to support the Government if its counter-proposals were rejected and the Entente abided by its demands.

Herr Hermann Mueller, the ex-Chancellor, on behalf of the Right Socialists, also supported the Government, and appealed to foreign workers to encourage negotiations for a practical solution of the reparations problem. He warned the German militarists and secret organisations of the risks of delaying disarmament.

WANTS TO NEGOTIATE

Herr Hergt, on behalf of the German National People's Party, objected to compliance with the Allies' disarmament demands. He was greeted with shouts of "Junker."

Herr Ledebour, Independent Socialist, urged the Government to negotiate if the Entente submitted alternative proposals. He derided the Conservatives' protests against the reparations demands in view of their intention to exact an even larger tribute if victorious.

London, Feb. 2.—Reuter learns that, up to the present, Germany has not replied officially to the invitation to attend the Conference in London on February 23, but in well-informed British circles, it is believed that Germany is bound to take the opportunity to discuss matters in detail at this Conference, while it should be understood in Berlin that the Paris settlement is final so far as the Allies are concerned.

Paris, Feb. 2.—An annex to the report of the Allied experts taking part in the Brussels Conference points out that the figures in the German budget for 1920 can only be accepted with reserve. It points out that the German Government and Parliament were anxious to emphasise the precarious condition of Germany's financial position.

The report refers to the enormous budgetted increase in administrative expenditure, while as regards the revenue, the duties on liquors, tobacco, coffee, tea and sugar were very far below what Great Britain, France and Italy are imposing.

URGE INCREASED DUTIES

The experts advocate increased duties and contend that this is desirable because wages and raw material are not rising in Germany proportionally to the value of the mark abroad, which makes German exportation a regular dumping business.

The experts believe that future budgets may be expected to balance, and that Germany will

High Costs Boost Naval Expenditures

Labor And Materials Add $434,000,000 To Original Estimates

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Naval Committee of the House of Representatives estimates that owing to the rise in the cost of material and labor $434,000,000 more than the original calculation of $538,000,000 will be required to complete the ambitious naval program embarked on in 1916.

The Naval Bill, as reported to the House, calls for an appropriation of $395,000,000 of which ninety millions is for continuing new construction next year. The naval program of 1916 authorised the construction of 156 warships. Many of these are completed but seventeen battleships and battle cruisers and a number of auxiliaries are still being constructed.

The Bill reduces the personnel of the Navy from 143,000 to 100,000 men and appropriates for aviation only £1,750,000 as compared with £5,000,000 for the current year.

Justice At Milltown Slain Upon Refusal To Give Up Money

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 2.—The death sentence passed by court-martial on Murphy, the Cork man, whose appeal before the High Court in Dublin, secured a postponement, has been commuted to penal servitude for life.

London, Feb. 2.—It is stated in Government circles in Dublin that there are signs that the Irish Republican Army is urgently in need of funds. Collections were made in the streets of Dublin on Sunday, and also from house to house. A number of the collectors were arrested.

The authorities are in possession of a copy of a notice sent to householders in County Tipperary, announcing that the Colonel of the Mid-Tipperary Brigade has decided to impose a levy in order to arm and equip his brigade.

It is officially reported that two armed and masked men entered the house of a Justice at Milltown and demanded money. Resistance was offered whereupon the Justice was shot dead and his son seriously wounded.

Three armed men visited a house at Inchicore and seized £114 in notes.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 2.—The Kenseikai members presented a written interpellation at yesterday's sitting of the Diet with reference to the supervision of Koreans abroad and the administration of Korea.

It asked whether Mr. Shaw's arrest was connected with the actions of the Korean Provisional Government at Shanghai, and whether the Japanese Government had referred the actions of Europeans and Americans in schools and churches in Korea, who were encouraging the independence propaganda in opposition to Japanese feelings, to the respective home governments of the persons concerned.

The Minister said he was unable to reply, as these matters were still under investigation.

Customs Authorities Acknowledge Authority, Says Foreign Office

(Reuter's Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 3.—The Foreign Office of the Canton Government has issued a statement in which it says:

"With a view to establishing the authority of the Military Government in the Constitutionalist provinces, the Military Government decided on January 15 that the Chinese Maritime Customs functioning in these provinces should be subject to its orders and control, and the Inspector-General was notified accordingly.

"The Military Government has now an assurance from the Inspector-General that he acknowledges, as always, the authority of, and takes instructions from the Military Government.

"This official statement is therefore published in order to allay misunderstanding, if any, by the foreign public that the Military Government intended to interfere with foreign loan service arrangements in any way prejudicial to the interests of foreign creditors."

JAPAN YIELDS TO GREAT BRITAIN IN SOUTH SEA ISSUE

'Equality Of Opportunity' Not To Apply To Islands South Of Equator

UCHIDA EXPLAINS STAND

Final Decision Reserved For Future Occasion, Says Foreign Minister

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 2.—During today's session of the Diet, replying to a question as to the difference of opinion between Great Britain and Japan in regard to the administrative system in the South Sea Islands south of the equator, Count Uchida, the Foreign Minister, stated that the point at issue depended for its solution on the interpretation of clauses in the Peace Treaty.

Great Britain maintained that the clause specifying equality of opportunity should not be applied in the South Seas, whereas Japan held the contrary view. Japan had therefore decided to recognise the British view, reserving the final decision to a future occasion.

The Japanese delegate to the League of Nations had accordingly conceded the British proposal, but there was at the same time an understanding with Mr. Balfour that Japan would insist on the maintenance of the rights already acquired.

Count Uchida added that the British delegates acted with great sympathy in dealing with the Japanese point of view. Mr. Balfour's tacit recognition of the declaration by the Japanese would be regarded as a recognition of the Japanese demand.

Embargo On Oil Exports Not Likely

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 2.—In connection with the projected bill authorising the President to place an embargo on the exportation of oil (which, as already cabled, has received the approval of Mr. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy) it is pointed out that the bill is being introduced in Congress by Senator Phelan of California, and that any recommendation from Mr. Daniels is very unlikely to have any effect in the initial stage of the bill, which is designed to check the exportation of Californian oils to Japan, because the present Administration has only another thirty days of life, and the outgoing Administration would not venture to take a decision on matters of such internal importance.

Customs Officials To Meet In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 2.—A conference of Customs officials from all parts of the Empire, which should have been held last year but was delayed owing to the pressure of post-war work, will meet in London at the end of February. The date has not yet been fixed, but will probably be in the last week.

The sole object of the Conference is to try and secure uniformity in the multiplicity of certificates which must be signed to meet the requirements of Customs Departments throughout the world. The self-governing Dominions will be directly represented and the Colonies and Dependencies probably by the Colonial Office. The Conference will deal solely with the form of these certificates, and will not concern itself with questions of policy.

New York Chorus Girls To Invade Shanghai, Promise

Broadway Producer Here To Look Over Field, And Is Considering Plan To Bring Out A Snappy Company For Next Theatrical Season

Mr. Myles McCarthy, Broadway producer and director of motion picture companies in Southern California, has arrived in Shanghai for the purpose of investigating the theatrical field in the Orient.

Mr. McCarthy is considering the possibility of bringing out a theatrical company from New York with a repertoire of snappy comedies, late dramatic successes and the prettiest chorus girls he can find.

If Mr. McCarthy finds conditions here make the launching of a new company in the East advisable he will feature bright comedy shows with plenty of attractive American girls in the leading roles and newest things in costume and scenic effects.

"There are many difficulties however," said Mr. McCarthy, "in bringing a large company to the Orient. The living conditions are a problem, the exchange is variable, the arrival of boats uncertain and the difficulty of keeping a company of pretty girls together is perhaps the greatest drawback."

Famine Relief Train Held Up By Bandits, Rice Stolen

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Feb. 1.—The Chung Mei News Agency's Shantung Correspondent reports a sensational hold-up of a famine relief supply train at Lokow, the southern bridge-head of the Yellow River Bridge of the Tientsin-Pukow Railway.

Ten armed robbers boarded the train, which was bringing rice from Kiangsu north to the famine district, as it slowly moved across the bridge, and compelled the crew to switch it onto a sidetrack at the Lokow bridgehead. They then proceeded to unload the bags of rice from the cars and load them into carts which were in readiness nearby.

After the bandits and their accomplices had driven away with about three hundred piculs of rice, one of the train crew managed to escape their vigilance, and made his way to the little station at the bridgehead, from where he telegraphed to Lokow town, about half a mile down the river, for assistance. Gendarmes soon arrived on the scene, driving away the robbers and capturing one.

APPEALS FOR GIFTS

A letter has been received by the Women's Famine Relief Society from the Canadian Presbyterian Mission in Changteho, Honan, from which the following extract is taken:

"What some of the poorest have suffered during this unprecedented cold weather is hard to describe. I have had some very sad cases in the hospital of frozen limbs, some so bad that gangrene set in. While on all sides we hear of the badly nourished and poorly clad being found dead in the morning. Many people have been made warm and happy by the timely aid that you ladies have already rendered, and if you will continue to trust us with further gifts, I assure you we will try and help many more in other ways. The demand for help by needy mothers is taking to the utmost the efforts of our lady doctors here, and we are extending this work by making grants to other mothers to assist them in supporting their children. The demand for such help is also very great. One of our trusted Chinese felt the claims of the many such so strong that he was afraid to give away the few tickets at his disposal, and returned them all. He was afraid to help the few and turn away the many."

This letter speaks for itself and needs no further comment than to ask that all who can help towards our funds will do so, as they can feel assured that money given will be well spent.

One of our Committee Members who has been visiting in Changteho writes: "I was present when the children in one of the schools had their mid-day meal. It consisted of a kind of porridge made of millet, bran and carrots. The children looked well on this not very appetising food, but still one must remember that though a poor diet, it is better than the certain alternative death by starvation, which would have been their lot."

Daily Mail Says Conditions Are Onerous For England

GOES TO LEAGUE

Draft Will Be Submitted To Geneva Council February 22

(Reuter's Service)

London, February 3.—The Philadelphia Public Ledger announces the terms of the British draft of the Mesopotamian mandate which will be submitted to the League of Nations at the next meeting of the Council at Geneva on February 22.

The Daily Mail regards the conditions as generally onerous to Great Britain in that they place all liabilities on British shoulders. The chief clauses provide that their shall be no discrimination against any foreign state, (with a view to placing the trade and oil enterprises of all nations on an equal footing), and for equal treatment of all nations as regards archaeological research. Great Britain is to be responsible for foreign relations, defense, maintenance of the present frontiers and freedom of religion and education.

Pershing Favors Parley Of Nations On Disarmament

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, February 2.—Addressing the House of Representatives' Naval Committee, General Pershing approved the suggested disarmament conference. He favored the continuance of the United States Navy and Army programs until the five great Powers had reached an agreement.

He added that France was unable safely to reduce her army for she was standing on guard in Europe, while Great Britain was occupied similarly on the seas.

In his opinion, an Anglo-American agreement must form the basis of a permanent disarmament policy, but France, Italy and Japan, he said, must subscribe to the agreement. An Anglo-American war was, to his mind, inconceivable.

London, Feb. 2.—With reference to further press reports as to the alleged findings of the Government's sub-committee on naval construction, it is authoritatively declared that this committee was not appointed to make any distinct recommendation, but was formed solely for the purpose of collating evidence and of eliminating certain non-essentials, and particularly of obtaining the views of experts.

Its report will be a summary of the evidence, and will not contain any recommendation whatsoever. The responsibility of arriving at a final decision at some future date rests entirely with the Imperial Defense Committee and the Cabinet.

Bandits And Disease Are Causing Distress In Shuntefu Area

Cold weather, bandits and danger of disease due to undernourishment are now the principal forces causing distress in the Shuntefu area according to late reports reaching the executive council of the United International Relief Committee.

Reports from this district are based on the most careful investigations and accurate records kept by officials showing the number of deaths, the number of families in distress and the relief that has so far been given.

Work of relief in this district has been systematised so that the branch committees and independent Chinese organisations can carry the work through with a minimum death rate, providing the supply of funds is maintained. Throughout the district the workers are counting on the February famine fund drive to help see them through.

BANDITS ORGANISED

Organisation of relief work, however, is offset by the organisation of the bandits who are now working so efficiently, according to investigators, that the Hsiens in the infested areas are terrorised.

Reports from the Shuntefu field were turned in by D. A. Irwin and Henry C. Fenn who have been working in conjunction with C. H. Corbett.

In the two months prior to January 15 according to these men, the death lists of Sha Ha Hsien showed 1,116 deaths due to starvation and exposure. The greatest death rate was during the extreme cold weather. The average death rate in the Hsiens of the district in the cold weather ranged from seven to ten. Future cold spells are not likely to be so serious as the people are now better clothed and their bodies have been fortified by the grain rations. To keep up this work, however, it is necessary that there be no cessation in the supply of grain, the workers say.

SITUATION IS ACUTE

As an example of the way records are now kept, Mr. Irwin cited the books of Kiang Tsan Hsien showing that of the 20,000 court yards there, with an average of seven persons to the yard, 9,000 court yards were inhabited by moderately poor families, 6,000 by the extremely poor and the remainder by these in good and medium circumstances.

The bandit situation is becoming more acute daily however and the organisation now comprises a force of 800 men.

"It is a matter of common knowledge," said Mr. Irwin, that this force is the remnant of Tuan Chi-jui's army. These robbers have become so bold that they make no secret of their location and have even given out threats that they will occupy and sack certain places on the Chinese New Year.

"The headquarters of the force are now at He Ka Miao in Ping Sha Hsien. They have made the threat that they will spend the New Year in Hsien Tien Chiao, Hwa Wo and Liu Ho. All these places are in Jen Hsien. At present the bands are looting around Kuang Tsung Hsien and clashes have taken place between them and the soldiers, the soldiers in most cases giving way.

"In only one place, Chufu, have the soldiers met the situation and there the bandits were so completely routed that there is little danger of a further attack.

BANDITS' METHODS BRUTAL

"The methods of the bandits are brutal. They seek money only and they travel in groups of about 50. One village reported that a group passed through holding nearly 50 captives. During the day the bandits who are dressed in uniform and look like soldiers, visit the villages, pay their way, make no disturbance then they depart, having obtained the names of the rich. At night they storm the place, carry off the rich to hold them for ransom and carry off also a few of the very poor, some of them actual famine sufferers.

"Outside the towns, they stop and bring the poor captives out in view of the others. They demand that the poor pay over money for their release. The poor of course have no money so a few of them are shot at once.

"This brutal object lesson is usually sufficient. The wealthier captives pay over the money demanded. The ransoms range from $1,000 $10,000. We have actual records of ransoms at the highest figure.

"Many of the wealthy farmers have become so frightened at these raids that they have fled to the cities and we found some of them dressed in beggars' clothes to hide their identity. Village gates, in many places, are closed all day and persons who have legitimate business inside are admited only after careful examining by soldiers."

Without the bandit interference, the work would go on much more smoothly, the investigators said.

The Chinese in many places have organised independent societies for relief. They finance them without aid from other than local sources. They have established soup kitchens and are giving excellent grain rations. In some places they give one and in others two meals a day. Whatever the number of meals, the ration is large. The man who gets it has all he wants. One of these chow changs in Shuntefu cares for 2,000 refugees a day and on a festival day 2,700 were fed.

"This kind of work is most encouraging and we want more of it as well as co-operation between the Chinese and foreign committee," said Mr. Irwin.

Especially encouraging is the attitude of the poor themselves. Thousands of them are not running away but are staying in their homes and working and living as economically as possible that they may pull through the winter."

Mixed Court Notes

Proprietors of three opium smoking establishments appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday. One, convicted of conducting a place for the smoking of opium at 659 Wuchow Road was sentenced to two months' imprisonment. The proprietor of a house at 1298 Kashing Road was sent to jail for two weeks and a man found to be in charge of No. 1721 East Yuhang Road was ordered to pay a fine of $30 or go to jail for 30 days. Four inmates of the places mentioned were fined $4 each.

With regard to the armed robbery which occurred at 36 Avenue Edward VII, as reported in yesterday's issue, Detective Sergeant Kilkenney reported yesterday in the Mixed Court that about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday 7 or 8 men entered the place, terrorised the inmates and made away with some $10,000 worth of currency and jewelry. A coolie followed the robbers and as a result one of them was seized by a Chinese Police Constable. He was found to be in possession of a Colt's automatic pistol, .45 calibre, with a cartridge in the breech and the magazine fully loaded. The weapon had the United States Army mark upon it and is believed to have been stolen from one of the American ships in port.

A remand of two weeks was given for further investigation.

Forged Stamp Case Remanded For Inquiry

The stamp forgery case was before the Mixed Court again yesterday when the principal complaining witnesses were heard. Detective Sergeant Kilkenney, who accomplished the arrest of the forgers, described the events leading up to their apprehension.

He detailed two Chinese detectives to shadow the suspected person to his lodgings in Foochow Road and there they heard him complete a transaction to sell $25 worth of forged 30 and 50-cent stamps to a postal employe who was working with the police. The forger and his accomplice were arrested forthwith and haled into the Mixed Court, where the police, the Postal employe and Mr. F. L. Smith, Postal Commissioner, gave evidence against them. Mr. Smith stated that some $307 had been expended in buying these forged stamps, marked money being given in exchange.

The case was remanded to give opportunity for further investigation.

French Want Pressure Brought On Germany

meet her treaty obligations by revenue from taxation.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Feb. 2.—The German parties forming the Right are urging the Government to present a refusal pure and simple to the demands embodied in the Allied Notes. On the other hand, the Center, whose influence carries most weight in the decisions of the German Cabinet, is preaching resignation to the inevitable, or else anticipates the formation of a coalition Ministry.

Paris, Feb. 2.—The resumption of the Brussels Conference has been fixed for the 7th instant. As, however, Herr Bergmann, the head of the German delegation to this Conference, has stated that the present situation has necessitated his returning to Berlin to receive his Government's instructions, it appears unlikely that the Brussels Conference can reassemble before the London Conference takes place.

Paris, Feb. 2.—The negotiations between the Constantinople and Angora Governments in regard to the composition of the Turkish Delegation to take part in the London Conference are still proceeding. Angora is endeavoring to obtain a predominance in its membership.

FRENCH NOT SURPRISED

Paris, Feb. 2.—Nobody in France expected that Germany would accept the Paris Conference decisions with a good grace, but the spectacle of the extraordinary outburst of fury, tainted with bad faith, to which the Allies are being treated exceeds all forecasts, and cannot fail to astonish those in England or America who imagined that Germany was ready to pay in proportion to her means.

Herr Bergmann, German representative on the Reparations Commission, left Paris yesterday for Berlin to seek fresh instructions. This involves putting off the resumption of the Brussels Conference till the end of February.

M. Laurent, the French Ambassador at Berlin, had an interview with Dr. von Simons at the Wilhelmstrasse yesterday morning. M. Laurent told Dr. von Simons that he had been instructed to emphasise that the Paris Conference reparations decisions were 'very serious.' The Ambassador outlined unofficially the penalties which the Allies proposed to exact if Germany stubbornly refused to fulfil her obligations, but he clearly gave the Foreign Minister to understand that Germany would be allowed a fair hearing, in accordance with the Treaty terms, before any final decision were taken.

Dr. von Simons' attempt in his Reichstag speech to play off the Seydoux scheme against the decision of the Allied Governments, is branded, in French diplomatic circles as pure bluff, as the heads of the Allied Governments have a perfect right to fix jointly the annual instalments which Germany must pay. Dr. von Simons also declared that the total 226 milliards of gold marks was equivalent to over 3,000 milliards of paper marks. That is true today but will certainly be false a year hence, and still more 42 years hence—as the paper mark has only fallen so low because the German Government has deemed it expedient to increase its paper currency in order to reduce its apparent capacity to pay.

"JUST AND REASONABLE"

One of the most eminent members of the Paris Conference summed up the position thus: "We have been not only just but reasonable towards Germany. She has three months to make up her mind to the necessity to pay. We are convinced that no Entente Power will be moved by Germany's recriminations."

Paris, February 2.—According to figures published in the Excelsior, the traffic of the port of Strasbourg showed an appreciable increase during 1920, giving a total tonnage handled of 1,740,217 as compared with 920,702 in 1919. In 1913 the total was slightly under two million tons. In the goods handled at this port coal accounts for two-thirds of the whole, cereals for one-fifth and the rest is made up of potash and miscellaneous commodities.

EXPECTS BIG TONNAGE

It is confidently expected, says the Excelsior, that Strasbourg's harbor will before long show a total tonnage handled of three millions, and this traffic can undoubtedly be doubled when the new docks are completed and the new railways through the Voges are constructed. In fact, the port of Strasbourg should become the source of supply not only for the departments of the Haut-Rhin, Bas-Rhin, Moselle, Voges, Meuse and Marne, but for all the Rhenish departments. The existing factories will expand and new warehouses will spring up. There appears to be no reason why, like Antwerp, Strasbourg should not become a port of entry for coffee, cocoa and even Algerian wines.

The Excelsior believes that Strasbourg is destined to become one of the largest, if not the largest, port in France. Its development depends on the improvement of the two canals of the Marne and the Rhone, on which the locks ought to be doubled, and animal haulage replaced by electric traction, and also of the new railways connecting Alsace with France, which are still notoriously inadequate.

Paris, Feb. 1.—M Barthou, the Minister of War, receiving the foreign military attaches, said: "You are in a position better than anybody else to see for yourselves that France has no aggressive intention against anyone. It remains solely with Germany, if she is willing to discard all idea of revenge, to enable us to start again to work in peace."

American Woman's Club Notes

The Mother's Department of the American Woman's Club will meet February 16 at the Carlton Cafe when a program of unusual interest will be given under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Bodde.

The program, which has been carefully planned, will deal with literature and music for children. Mrs. W. J. Fuller will give a paper on "Music for Children." She will be assisted by Mrs. Thompson of Nanyang College who will illustrate the talk by singing groups of children's songs. Mrs. E. Kelhoefer will read Bryant's book, "How to Tell Stories."

Foreigners Attack Chauffeur, Charge

Charged with assaulting a Chinese chauffeur Mr. R. E. Chambers and Mr. S. T. Gregg, of the Tobacco Products Corporation, appeared in the United States Court for China yesterday before Commissioner Schuhl.

Major C. P. Holcomb appeared to prosecute and Mr. R. T. Bryan appeared for the defence.

The complainant, a chauffeur from the Eastern Garage, was the first witness and gave testimony to the effect that he was waiting outside the Lyceum Theater last Saturday evening when the two foreigners came out of the theater and, after accusing him of stealing certain rugs from their car, chased him up the stairs to the chauffeur's room in the Eastern Garage and assaulted him with their fists. He appeared in Court heavily bandaged and said he could not see the defendants to identify them

Mr. J. J. Keegan, sales manager for the China Motors, Ltd., identified the two defendants as having been the two men whom he had seen ordering the Chinese staff about on the night in question and being apparently very much excited about something. The men had explained to him that they had chased a man who had stolen some rugs into the garage and that he had fallen and hurt himself. He asked them to wait until the police were called and they agreed to do so.

A chauffeur from the Central Garage told of seeing the men chase the chauffeur across the road to the Eastern Garage entrance. Another chauffeur said that he saw the accused overtake the injured man on the stairs and throw him down and begin to assault him. The taller man had kicked the complainant while he was unconscious. Mr. Bryan here interposed with the protestation that the witness was not being strictly truthful.

Following further argument the case was adjourned until Monday morning.

The Man Who Envied the Show Window of a Certain Furniture Store

A friend of ours was attracted by a set of furniture displayed in the show window of a certain store. The articles were so alluring that he simply had to buy them. But when he had them in his own parlor, more than half of the original "look" was gone!

"Well, what was there in that show window, any way?", said he, scratching his head.

A trip to that window once more. Incidentally he lifted his head. "Ah! There's the secret!"

At once he copied the the store's secret in his own parlor. It was successful, of course.

The answer was simple. He saw the store's show window was beautifully lighted by a Veluria decorative bowl, and he put the same thing in his own parlor.

HOUSE SHORTAGE IS WORLD WIDE, SURVEY REVEALS

America In Worst Plight, As 2,000,000 Homes Are Needed There

NATIONS TAKING ACTION

Building In Australia Hampered By Lack Of Materials And Labor

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 2.—That the present housing dilemma does not apply only to Great Britain is revealed in a world survey issued by the Housing Department of the Health Ministry.

This states that Canada's shortage amounts to 50,000 houses; Switzerland's to 35,000 and Norway's to 20,000. Building in Australia is hampered by the shortage of labor and materials, particularly bricks, the average production of which in 1919 was down 35,000,000 owing to the seamen's strike. New Zealand and South Africa are also affected but not to the same extent.

In France, the increased cost of building has retarded urgent operations in Paris, where 4,000 dwellings that have been projected are practically at a standstill. Italy, Sweden and Holland have taken national action, but in the United States no Government housing work is being carried on and the shortage of 2,000,000 dwellings has produced a serious situation, especially at New York.

Accuse Accountant Of $250,000 Theft

Charged with the misappropriation of $69,000 and Tls. 170,000, a Chinese bank accountant employed by the Zung Chong Bank, 49 Ningpo Road, appeared before the Mixed Court yesterday.

Mr. McKeen appeared for the prosecution and stated that the application for the warrants was made by him for seven men. They were charged with embezzlement. They were employes of the bank and the accused was one of these. As the others were not arrested the prosecution asked a remand in the case.

When the accused was arrested, it was stated, certain papers and documents were found upon his person which lead the police to believe that Mr. Musso had been retained to appear on the behalf of the defendants in the matter, the papers appearing to be receipts for a retaining fee.

Inspector Wheeler stated that Capt. Ferrajolo, the Italian Assessor in the Mixed Court, being engaged at the time in another court, had sent word to the effect the accused in the case had already been tried twice before the Italian Assessor and owing to Italian interests the Italian Consulate intended to write to the Mixed Court asking for a remand for the case to be heard by the Italian Assessor.

The Assessor of the day stated that the case would be remanded in the ordinary way, for two weeks, and if the Italian Consul writes in stating that there are Italian interests involved in the case it will be remanded for trial before the Italian Assessor. But up to the present this had not been done.

PORTER WINS FROM PRINCE; ENTERS FINAL

Champion Shows Rare Form And Is Victor By Score Of 750 To 502

GRAY IS PLAYING TONIGHT

Australian Wonder To Make First Appearance Here At Marine Engineers

Eight years ago C. W. Porter started after a great big silver trophy which goes to the man who wins the amateur billiard championship of Shanghai five times. Phillips grabbed a leg on the prize and then Smythe copped a couple. Porter proceeded to step out for four championships and just as soon as Bush and Phillips get together and decide which is to meet Porter, the latter will wrap himself around the silver mug he started after so long ago. And then he says he will retire. Last night Porter defeated J. W. Prince by a score of 750 to 502 and if either Phillips or Bush wins the final, Porter will probably be as surprised as the green table devotees in this international community.

Porter didn't play wonderful billiards last night but he was cool and as steady and consistent as old man Hoppe himself. Porter just plugged along like the young college grad out to make a living, copping 24 here, 30 there and once in a while 50 or 60 over there.

His red ball didn't come back on the American Club table as prettily as it does at the Marine Engineers and he was perceptibly bothered because the cushions sounded damp. But his "nursing" was a joy and his potting and in

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

To guard the baby or young child against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. These Tablets are a mild laxative which will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognised fact that when the stomach and bowels are in good order colds will not exist: that the health of the little one will be good, and that he will thrive and be happy.

THE SILENT KEYLESS CLOCK

British Design—British Manufacture

This clock is not a passing novelty, but a definite advance in clock making.

14 POINTS AND 4 TO SPARE.

Special Advantages of the Silent Keyless Clock.

1. Extreme simplicity. 2. Reliability. 3. It is practically noiseless. 4. It automatically adjusts itself to irregularities of shelf or mantelpiece. 5. It beats true seconds. 6. It combines the efficiency of a "Grandfather" pendulum with a 4" case. 7. Variations due to atmospheric changes are reduced to a minimum because the centre of gravity is within an eighth of an inch of the centre of motion. 8. The pivots of the compound pendulum, rolling in their curved recess, cause the pendulum to describe a cycloidal arc. 9. It cannot get out of beat. 10. There are no keys to lose. 11. There are no springs to break. 12. The design of the escapement reduces friction to the minimum. 13. The clock itself is its own driving power. 14. It shows at a glance when it needs winding. 15. The driving force is constant. 16. The design lends itself to new varieties of artistic treatment. 17. It requires no oil. 18. An extraordinary reduction of strain on working parts, giving long life.

FORTER WINS FROM PRINCE

offs were sufficiently accurate to allow him to walk away with Prince.

PRINCE NOT BAD

Prince was far from bad at the start. Prince led the first century, scoring 102 to Porter's 89, it was nip and tuck for 300 and Prince had 296 when Porter's total was 318.

Then the title holder stepped out and made a beautiful run of 60 before he lost the white and found his red nestled against the cushion below the side pocket. He made this difficult shot, punched another in off the red and then missed an easy peg. But the break was 66 and gave him 384 to Prince's 296. From then on there was no doubt about the result. Prince played inferior billiards often, the table worried him and he missed simple shots time and again.

HERE ARE THE FIGURES

The following summary shows how the men reached the hundreds: Prince 102, Porter 89; Porter 300, Prince 289; Porter 409, Prince 353; Porter 518, Prince 380; Porter 600, Prince 452; Porter 710, Prince 469; Porter 750, Prince 502.

Porter averaged 8.1 in 89 visits to the table. Prince's mark was 6 in 88 trips. The game consumed two hours and 25 minutes, starting at 9:15 and ending at 11:40.

Porter's big breaks were 66, 54, 39, 30, 28, 26, 25, 24, 22 and 21. Prince made breaks of 49, 48, 24, 23 and 20.

BUSH vs. PHILLIPS

Bush and Phillips play at the Marine Engineers Institute Monday night beginning at 9 o'clock. The winner meets Porter for the championship.

GRAY PLAYS TONIGHT

George Gray, the Australian champion, will play J. E. Grant tonight at the Marine Engineers Institute. Gray will allow Grant 300 points in a 700-point game. He will give a lecture on billiards and demonstrate several shots.

GRAY PLAYS TONIGHT

George Gray, the Australian billiard wizard who is on a tour of the world, will make his initial bow before the local public this evening at the Marine Engineers Institute. He will give an exhibition of billiard strokes and lecture on the art of billiard playing. His probable opponent in the game will be J. E. Grant.

The Australian marvel is scheduled to play at the local clubs next week. No public matches have been arranged as yet and there is difficulty in getting a suitable hall for the champion to play so that a big crowd would be able to watch.

Gray will probably stay here a couple of weeks before going to Tientsin, Peking and Hankow.

Poles-Lithuanians Break Off Parleys

(Reuter's Service)

London, February 2.—The negotiations between Poland and Lithuania for the settlement of the Vilna question have been broken off owing to Lithuania's repudiation of her former willingness that a plebiscite should be taken to decide the matter.

The reason assigned for this action is the continued presence of General Zeligowski's forces at Vilna, which, it is feared, will unfavorably affect the voting.

Baron Fujimura's Views

WE are glad to note that Baron Fujimura, for long a respected resident of Shanghai and member of the Shanghai Municipal Council, has come around to what has always been THE CHINA PRESS' view of Japan's military and political policies in China. Addressing the House of Peers in Tokio last week he indulged in sharp criticism of the Japanese government's activities in this country. According to the Japan Advertiser he prefaced his remarks by reminding his audience that the anti-Japanese boycott and other agitations against Japan in China were due to suspicion that Japan was antagonistic to that country, in spite of the protestation of friendship by the Japanese government and people, made from time to time.

"The reason why China and other foreign nations are criticising Japan's militaristic diplomacy is in the fact that Japan's policy is shiftless without any fundamental ground. Many things done by Japan in China are such as would create grave suspicion and fear among the Chinese as to Japan's ambitious designs. So long as such suspicions and fears are entertained by the Chinese, there is no way of establishing a permanent peace in the relations with China. Such peace can only be attained by adhering to justice and humanity.

"To try to conduct diplomacy by means of force is a travesty upon the tendency of modern times. If Japan is misunderstood abroad, such misunderstanding should be cleared by taking proper steps to clear it."

Here Baron Fujimura has stated the exact truth. The bad relationship is not due to China but to Japan. This is irrefutably the fact.

The Japanese Premier, the Minister of War and the Foreign Minister also came in for criticism at the hands of the Baron on account of the Mizumachi letter. Demanding that the House of Peers be told whether or not the Hara Ministry was responsible for so open an affront to the British government as that letter to the Reverend William Foote, roundly criticising the War Department for allowing such an incident to occur and concluding with a charge that until the Mizumachi case had been answered to the satisfaction of the Peers the criticism that Japan's diplomacy is conducted by dual heads, must stand, Baron Fujimura continued his interpellation.

Immediately after Baron Fujimura's questions and criticism, Count Uchida, Foreign Minister, and General Tanaka, Minister of War, answered, the former denying that any authority for the letter had come from the Foreign office, the latter denying that the militarists in Tokio controlled the nation's foreign policy. Baron Fujimura announced after the session adjourned that he was not satisfied with the answers of the Ministers, but allowed it to be understood that he would not carry his questions any further.

"What I want to know," said Baron Fujimura, "is this, was Colonel Mizumachi instructed to send that letter by the government? If he was the charge that Japan's diplomacy is conducted by dual heads, the foreign office and the war office, cannot be denied. Indeed, the criticism abroad as to the dual system of diplomacy must have come from some such incident as the Mizumachi letter.

"Reading the letter I was struck with a sense of the outrage perpetrated by the colonel. While Premier Hara denied that the Japanese army in Chientao was brutal to the Korean inhabitants, the facts were established that downright cruelties were perpetrated upon the inhabitants. They were treated as if they were savage tribes, with no regard for the principles of humanity and justice. The 300,000 Koreans in Chientao are the subjects of the Emperor and are our fellow countrymen. Why were such cruelties permitted? The criticism directed against Japan abroad regarding the incident was unfortunate. Then the letter came. Was Colonel Mizumachi instructed to send that outrageous letter? The remarks made in it, as for instance asking the addressee what the British people would think if Japanese Buddhists should instigate the Hindoos to raise troubles in India, or referring to the Amristar incident involving General Dyer, and other references made in that letter were altogether uncalled for. While the war minister and the foreign minister denied that any instruction was given Colonel Mizumachi to address that letter, various pieces of circumstantial evidence prove that the colonel had not acted altogether of his own accord."

Here Baron Fujimura cited the case that the military field telegraph was used to send out the report giving the letter to the public, and other evidence to prove that the whole Hara ministry was cognisant of what Colonel Mizumachi might say in the letter.

"Colonel Mizumachi's letter should not be regarded as his own altogether, nor as given under instruction of the war minister alone, nor yet the work of the foreign minister. But it should be regarded as having been written under instructions of the Hara ministry.

"Regarding General Hsu Shu-cheng who was kept in custody in the Japanese legation compound in Peking, I am informed," said Baron Fujimura, "that first a Japanese army officer had given an informal pledge to give adequate protection to the Chinese general. Mr. Obata, the Japanese minister to China, I am also told, at first had intended to refuse to give the protection. But since a responsible army officer pledged it, the minister was obliged to afford the protection. The Japanese government later gave out an official announcement that it would keep General Hsu Shu-cheng in the custody of the Japanese legation under a careful guard.

"But," Baron Fujimura continued, "when General Hsu Shu-cheng was leaving the legation compound, I am informed also that a Japanese army officer pledged that help would be given for the general's safe escape, and it was so given. Yet Mr. Obata announced that the Japanese authorities had no knowledge that General Hsu Shu-cheng was leaving, that the Chinese general had not been kept in custody and that he was given protection.

"I want the government to give us a definite reply as to the true circumstances. Was General Hsu Shu-cheng aided in securing Japanese protection or not. Was he kept under strict watch and if he was how was it that he stole away? If the Japanese authorities did not know about his escape, it meant that the discipline in the Japanese Legation was loose. If they knew, the general was secretly aided in making the escape. Which was true? Moreover, General Hsu Shu-cheng was regarded as a serious criminal by the Chinese authorities. If he was a political prisoner, he was an important prisoner. Is not Japan morally obliged to answer straightforwardly questions regarding his case?"

To which we might add that the Chinese people are an honorable people, and as such are entitled to honorable treatment, not only from Japan, but from all other peoples.

Commenting on Baron Fujimura's interpellations and the Governments' replies, the Yomiuri says:

"First, when the military authorities became aware of General Hsu Shu-cheng's plan to flee from the Japanese legation, they issued instructions that "he should not be confined but should not be assisted in fleeing." Some Japanese soldiers were punished in connection with the escape of General Hsu. The instructions are incomprehensible, and nothing could be done unless they were violated. If the alternative is either to be scolded ostensibly but eulogised in fact or to receive no rebuke but to get the door closed on one's promotion, one would receive the rebuke. Moreover, there is no knowing what instructions were really issued.

"Secondly, the War Minister boastfully referred to the fact that the army has various organs in China for the gathering of information. Is this not evidence that the army is overbearing the Foreign Office? We do not know for what purpose reference was made to General Aoki, but the object was apparently to show that the army has a galaxy of experts on things Chinese.

"As to the reply of Count Uchida, the Foreign Minister, it seems that he was reciting what he was told by Mr. Hara, but his reference to the negotiations with the War Department may be taken as airing dissatisfaction with the pressure of the militarists."

The Japan Advertiser's comment, in part, says:

"If more Japanese public men were ready to act as Baron Fujimura acted in the House of Peers and drag awkward incidents like the shelter and escape of Little Hsu and the Chientao affair into the light of criticism, Japan would have fewer such incidents to complain of. So long as military officers can commit calculated indiscretions without more than nominal rebuke those indiscretions will continue and Japan will remain exposed to the charge of having a dual policy and a dual government. . . .

"Baron Fujimura's criticisms were weighty and it cannot be said that they were satisfactorily answered. Was Colonel Mizumachi instructed to send his letter to the missionaries? asked Baron Fujimura. The Foreign Minister said that he was not instructed and admitted that it was an improper letter to send. General Tanaka however, stated that a private memorandum had been given to Colonel Mizumachi which had been shown to foreign correspondents who misunderstood its contents and sent it abroad by wireless. The only foreign correspondent with Colonel Mizumachi was Mr. Junius Wood, representing Kokusai, and he telegraphed the letter to Tokio by field telegraph—remarkable performance for soldier operators who usually use kana only. Both the missionaries who received it and the Japanese and foreign press regarded it as expressing the official view. General Tanaka's reply indicates that they were right."

Regarding the escape of Little Hsu, the same paper says: "It was known that the Chinese General wanted to get away; he had asked for permission. Mr. Obata, according to the Kokusai report, gave instructions that no assistance was to be given to General Hsu in escaping. He escaped from the Legation without assistance and then a Japanese officer enabled him to escape from Chinese to Japanese territory. That officer has been punished: he has been suspended from duty; for how long was not stated. The case of Hsu is less serious than the other, and Mr. Obata seems to have known more about it than the Foreign Office did about Colonel Mizumachi. The army presumably felt than they could not in honor refuse shelter and an opportunity to get away from China to General Hsu. But the people of Japan must reckon on the political results of this action. It will be explained by the Chinese as evidence that Hsu had been the tool of the military party in Japan; that the Japanese Legation was too deeply committed with him to be able to close its door on him as the other Legations did; that he was by Japanese assistance spirited out of China and given a refuge in Japanese territory. And should he ever again play a part in Chinese affairs Japan will be blamed.

"Baron Fujimura put the point exactly when he told the Government that the evidences of dual diplomacy which such incidents furnish is the great cause of the misunderstandings of Japan that exist in China and in other countries. Ministers make conciliatory declarations and the high-handed actions of subordinates make the declarations of the Government meaningless. It is the business of the Diet to use all its influence to ensure that power and constitutional responsibility are not divorced as they often seem to be. Questions of policy belong to the Government; military affairs to the soldiers; foreign affairs to the Foreign Office. National policy should flow in one broad stream from one source. If there is one stream having its source at Miyakezaka and another springing from the lower level of Kasumigaseki the result can only be confusion and misunderstanding."

Meanwhile Little Hsu is back in China and at large. And that being at large he is politically active goes without saying. And if he meets with success in his designs, the people of China will pay the bill with added suffering. And there will be one more score for Japan at some not very remote date to settle.

AFTER THE MISSING LINK

The girl, with the Scottish looking hat, who smiled at us from the front page of THE CHINA PRESS yesterday morning, has just tied herself up in the bonds of matrimony to Hayward Cutting, and the two are off on a five years' honeymoon into the wilds of China. The still happy couple have joined the expedition headed by Roy Chapman Andrews and they are after the missing link.

And this calls to mind a little article in Pearson's Weekly headed

WHERE'S THE MISSING LINK?

With a view to try to find the missing link between ape and man, an American expedition is shortly leaving New York for Central Asia.

But although it has been financed to the tune of £50,000 by the Museum of Natural History and the American Asiatic Society, experts are not at all sanguine as to its success.

They hold that the last missing link, an ape-like creature of shambling gait and uncouth aspect, almost certainly perished one hundred thousand or more years ago.

From fossil remains found in various parts of the world we are able, however, to form a fairly accurate idea of what these apemen were like. We can tell, for instance, by the shape of their skulls, that they were chinless, dumb creatures with practically no forehead.

The bones of the face, too, prove that the missing link could have had little mobility of expression. The man could certainly not laugh.

From time to time alleged live missing links have been found in various parts of the world but none has survived expert examination. Probably the most famous of them all was Krao, "the monkey maiden," exhibited in London in 1883.

A million people paid to see her, and a great controversy raged in the newspapers concerning her. But Professor Tyndall, after a careful examination, pronounced her to be merely an ordinary little Burmese girl, the only abnormality about her being a growth of fine, silky hair—so closely matted together as almost to resemble fur—which clothed her from head to foot like a garment made with hands.

"Oh, I don't know," said Smillie, thoughtfully, "I've no objection whatever to Charlie Chaplin."

FEELING SMALL

One of our British weeklies has been gathering paragraphs from big folk which tell of occasions when they felt really small. Mr. Louis Calvert, the popular actor, and now an honest-to-goodness citizen of the U.S.A., tells the following story against himself.

Years ago I was acting with the famous Mrs. Langtry. My part was Algy Balfour, in "As In a Looking Glass," and I was supposed to enter the drawing room with a letter, saying, "Here's a letter for you" to the well known actress.

One night I approached her in the center of the stage, and was about to say my lines when I suddenly remembered that I had forgotten to bring the letter with me. In order to avoid confusion I used my discretion, and added after my usual words, "Oh, I've left it in the other room, I'll go and fetch it." I ran to my dressing room, returned to the stage and handed her the letter. I received a severe reprimand after the show, and was warned of serious consequences if the thing happened again.

Unfortunately, it DID happen again, and I tried to pass off my negligence as before, saying, "Here's a letter for you-er-oh, I've left it in the other room! I'll go and fetch it."

"Oh, no you won't" replied Mrs. Langtry, sternly, and by her look I saw she intended to have her revenge. "You stay here, and I'LL go."

And she left me standing in the center of the stage feeling and looking a silly ass.

A Hint For Lloyd George

Says Public opinion: A very fine hint for the Premier is given by the New Republic, of New York—though the first right of usage is offered to the new President-Elect!

"Rumor fills the air with suggestions for Senator Harding's cabinet. The names of Senator Root, Mr. Hoover, Mr. Taft, Senator Borah, Mr. Will Hays, Senator Johnson are particularly mentioned.

"An old difficulty crops up again: how can a Republican cabinet strike a balance between the irreconcilables and the reservationists, between the radicals and the conservatives, the insurgents and the regulars? How can Senator Johnson and Mr. Hoover be in the same cabinet? How can things be done with men as wide apart as Mr. Root and Senator Borah on the same team? There seems to be only one way out, and it is scarcely a conventional one.

"Why not run the cabinet on two shifts? Irreconcilables by day, stand-patters by night; Senator Borah as Postmaster-General from noon to midnight, Mr. Hoover from midnight to noon.

"Or a brass plate at the State Department with these words: Henry Cabot Lodge, Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays; Elihu Root, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

"Only by such means could the Republican oil and water be mixed."

Cosmical Motions

BY EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN
Director of Mount Lowe Observatory

When it is exact noon on the United States Standard Meridian, running from the North Pole, through the zenith of Washington, D. C., and thence across the equator of the cosmic sphere to the South Pole, and return on the opposite side of the sphere to the North Pole again, standard time is telegraphed to many parts of the United States.

This highly important meridian is located by a piece of spider thread or silk fibre 1½ inches long in the exact center of the focal plane of the object glass in the standard United States transit telescope in the United States Naval Observatory. This spider thread is a close rival for time honors with a similar thread in Greenwich, in London.

At exactly noon on last December 21, the right ascension of the sun was 17 hours, 58 minutes, 7.01 seconds. And at instant of noon on the 22nd the sun's right ascension was 18 hours, 2 minutes, 33.51 seconds.

But when the right ascension of the sun is 18 hours we have the Winter solstice—a Latin word, Sol, the sun, and stice, to stand still. The difference in right ascension between the two noons is 4 minutes 26.5 seconds. Then during each hour the right ascension of the sun increases 11.104 seconds. The difference between 17 hours, 58 minutes, 7.01 seconds is 1 minute 52.99 seconds, which, divided by 11.104, gives as a quotient 10.176 hours, which equals 10 hours 10 minutes 56 seconds. This added to 17 hours 58 minutes 7.01 seconds equals 28 hours 9 minutes 3.01 seconds. This, less 24 hours, leaves 4 hours 9 minutes 3.01 seconds, December 22, as the exact instant of the solstice for 1920.

On Dec. 21, at precise noon, the center of the sun was south of the Celestial equator, 23 degress 26 minutes 47.7 seconds. And on the 22nd, at noon, in Washington, the south declination of the sun's center was 23 degrees 26 minutes 45.7 seconds. Then it was 2 seconds of arc nearer the equator on the 22nd than on the 21st. It had to stop going South and start North. And this at the time when R. A. of sun is 18 h.

I like to watch the times of solstices in December and June. And to keep close watch in the great telescope in March and September, when the center of the sun stands on the exact equator. I set the micrometer wires on the precise equator and then watch the sun's center pass.

But the times of both solstices and equinoxes vary. The Winter solstice in 1912 was on December 21, 11 hours 37 minutes; 1913, December 21, 17 hours 27 minutes; 1914, December 21, 23 hours 15 minutes; 1917, December 21, 21 hours 46 minutes; 1879, December 21, 11 hours 18 minutes. And the equinoxes varied as much.

These variations are called perturbations, and are known to be due to the varying intensities of attraction on the earth and sun exerted by the masses of all the other planets as they move. The computation of these perturbations is one of the triumphs of the mind that is in Mars. Each planet has to be weighed, and its varying distance from the earth in all parts of its orbit. And the exact position of the center of the earth for every minute in each year, for years in advance, in relation to the centers of all the seven other planets.

That the weighing and measuring have been made with extreme accuracy is proved because the center of the earth comes around on time to the predicted places. This accuracy is that of recent astronomy only. Notice the 7.01 second, accurate to the one-hundredth of a second. The force of attraction of Jupiter, Saturn, Mars, Venus, etc., has to be known with equal precision. And the extreme precision of modern mathematics is shown in the exact prediction of eclipses and transits, down to seconds of time, now.

These mighty masters of the human race are always in transcendent mental realms when solving these magnificent and complex equations. The entire solar system has been weighed and measured. And for new realms to conquer man is now storming the very battlements of the sidereal universe in weighing from 100,000,000 up to 500,000,000 giant suns. None can now hope to predict what these immortal masters will accomplish in the near future if they keep on during the next five years as they have in, say the last two years. Mathematical mind power may, and doubtless will, increase beyond all present powers of imagining.

Prohibition And Progress

By Dr. John Roach Straton
Pastor Calvary Baptist Church, New York City

Prohibition and progress will become synonyms if the significance of demonstrated facts, since the prohibition law was enacted, is really taken to heart by our people.

Everywhere that an honest effort has been made to enforce prohibition laws, even though like other laws, they cannot be perfectly enforced, nevertheless, the results have been amazing. Take, for example, Grand Rapids, Mich. Almost the entire issue of The Survey for November 6 is taken up with a systematic and authoritative presentation of what has been accomplished in that one city since the saloons were closed. May I give here just a few sentences, taken from the general summary of what has happened since the prohibition law came into effect?

HOME AND FAMILY LIFE

"Families spend more time together. The front porch and the garden have come up, as the corner saloon has gone down. Children are better cared for. Mothers know, some of them for the first time, what it is not to be on the grocer's books. Fathers take notice of shabby furnishings and help save up to replace them. The whole town is better dressed.

"Tuberculosis and infantile mortality, two good indices of the public health, are on the decline in Grand Rapids."

"The bulk of additional earnings, after due allowance for higher prices, goes into substantial home comforts. Pawn shop transactions have been reduced by one-third, and debt collection has become easier than ever before. With an unusually large number of savings banks, Grand Rapids has experienced a marked increase in savings, side by side with lavish spending."

INDUSTRIAL IMPROVEMENT

"In the factories, Mondays are no longer blue or black. Absenteeism because of 'severe headaches' has decreased; industrial accidents likewise. The trouble-making barkeeper is now not the first to welcome the newcomer to the city or the homecomer on his way from the paywindow. Philip, sober, has begun to realise that some men are worth more than others; to take a livelier interest in shop concerns, to express himself more freely and intelligently on the processes of which his work is a part."

From the side of the worker, there are all of the benefits that accrue from regular and intelligent labor. Under the head of poverty, the report in the Survey says:

"Visible signs of want or degradation are few."

MORAL BETTERMENT

"Prohibition has all but emptied the country jail. The country farm has run down for lack of prison labor. The police force has been greatly reduced. The withdrawal of liquor from dance and social halls has closed a prolific source of immorality and crime. The number of arrests has been almost halved in the two years during which prohibition has been in effect. Intoxication, rowdyism, vagrancy are most conspicuous among the crimes diminished in number."

Because of these things, in speaking of public opinion, the Survey says:

"From city officials to housewives, from bank presidents to labor leaders, Grand Rapids people back up pretty solidly in favor of strict enforcement of prohibition. Witnesses almost invariably said that the two most noticeable effects of prohibition were the change it had brought in family life and the fact that the younger generation was growing up without a taste for alcohol."

CHICAGO'S EXPERIENCE

Even in Chicago, with only half-way efforts for enforcement, there have been striking improvements. Judge William M. Gemmill, of the Municipal Court of Chicago, has recently made the following statement as to conditions. While he remarks that the prohibition laws have been very laxly enforced, nevertheless he points out that there has been vast improvement. He says:

"Since the enactment of National Prohibition the total number of arrests for all offenses has fallen off about 40 percent. This includes arrests for drunkenness, fighting, stabbing, shooting, embezzlement, contributing to the delinquency of children, wife and child abandonment, and other kindred offenses."

"In the city we have abolished two criminal courts, in the worst saloon sections, because there was no longer sufficient business to justify their maintenance.

"Two-thirds of our Bridewell or city prison, where all prisoners convicted of misdemeanor are sent, has been closed. Before National Prohibition became effective this prison was continuously filled to capacity (twenty-two hundred). For the last year it has averaged about 600. Before prohibition we had in our Court of Domestic Relations an average of about 40 cases per day of wife and child abandonment and non-support of wife and children. In most cases drunkenness of the husband and father was the cause. Now we have less than one-half that many."

St. John's University Notes

Before a large audience at the Olympic theater on the evening of February 1, the St. John's Triangle Club gave its first show for the Famine Relief. The Glee Club, the Varsity Orchestra, and the Foreign Dramatic Club have all been amalgamated under the name of the Triangle Club, and all angles had their chance the other night. There was harmonising by the Glee Club, instrumental jazz by the Orchestra, and three separate acts.

"Standing room only" is a one-act comedy and rather difficult to render even for professionals, but C. H. Tyau, who played the part of Gladys Glade, "the shapely queen of the footlights," and who had by far the heaviest part of the acting, performed exceedingly well. He made a very charming self-possessed girl, very dignified yet demure and utterly attractive V. S. Phen as Van Deusen was very convincing. Reggie, the dashing prodigal of the story, was carried out by E. T. Tsu in delightful fashion. With P. T. Zung as the butler the playlet was complete.

"An Ideal Husband" was the second of the playlets, a farce, written by the students. Z. K. Nyien looked like Handsome Harry. K. W. Zung made a sweet little Daisy I. P. Waung simulated the bookworm on the stage, a difficult thing but well done. K. T. Zi as "Naughty" Konrad had no difficulty in getting over to the audience the proper idea of his part. Johnnie, the cafe waiter, in no way fell behind the others and on several occasions outshone them all. Yih Ts-wo has a natural twinkle in his eye and a sense of humor that escapes under all circumstances.

The evening ended with the musical playlet, or "Labor Opera," as someone styled it, called "When the Whistle Blows." This was also original and written in order to introduce some of the old time harmonies like "Beans" and "Seven Come Eleven." Z. K. Nyien appeared as Charlie Chaplin. It was cleverly done and afforded much entertainment to the tired stage laborers. P. K. Sze was a real comedy policeman and the side play between Charlie and himself was excellent. The boss, V. S. Phen, acted in the capacity of an interlocutor for a few gags staged by Jeff (C. H. Tyan), Jerry (P. T. Zung), Hank (K. H. Nyi), and Sam (F. S. Tsang).

One of the balancing features of the entertainment was the well-drilled chorus work of the Glee Club under Mr. Glauque's instruction. The number were well rendered and showed clearly that there had been a lot of hard work put on them. There was snap and go to the whole performance and too much credit can not be given to the student managers and faculty advisors whose united efforts made it such a success.

University Of Nanking Notes

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, Feb. 1.—Mr. Frederick W. Stevens, the representative at Peking of the American group of bankers in the Consortium, en route to Shanghai, visited the University and addressed the students body Monday morning. In his speech, Mr. Stevens explained clearly the aims and proposed methods of the Consortium, which he said is being grossly misrepresented by many Chinese newspapers. He was heard by all the college students of the University, and many other Chinese and foreign residents of the community.

Col. F. V. Holt, F.R.S., advisor to the Chinese Aeronautical Department at Peking, a few days ago delivered an interesting lecture on the "Proposed Air Line in China."

The University will have a one-weeks vacation for Chinese New Year Feb. 4 to 11. Most of the men will remain on the campus. Some whose homes are too far away to return there, will visit near-by communities, and others will hike to some of the interesting and beautiful places around the city during the vacation.

A Union social meeting participated by all the Senior College literary clubs will be held on March 4. Committees have been appointed from representatives of the clubs.

"The Necessity of Religion in China Today" was subject of a sermon preached last Sunday by Dr. K. S. Liu, ex-professor of the University, and now of the Government Teacher's College.

During the month of January, more than 370 volumes of Chinese books and 66 volumes of English books were added to the University Liberary.

The University Christain Association Peoples' Schools have had splendid records during the past year. Five of the seven schools with altogether more than 30 students were closed last week for Chinese New Year. Plans for next term are now under preparation.
